BUY THE BATMOBILE!

The Caped Crusader's ride hits the auction block.

WINGED WIZARD
Filled with gadgets, voice-activation and a jet turbine engine, the lacquered beast can go from zero to 60 mph in four seconds.

Looking to drive off with a piece of movie history? The Batmobile used in 1992's Batman Returns is one of the many famous rides up for sale at September's Rand/Workman Fine Motor Auction and Luxury Lifestyle Expo in New York.

Designed by Tim Burton and legendary production designer Anton Furst, who created the sets for Full Metal Jacket, this Batmobile comes with a "Bat Cocoon" armor shield and turbo fins. With bidding expected to reach over $500,000, it's Batman style at Bruce Wayne prices. But if there ever was a car worth half a million bucks, this might be it.
